Kit, do tell what you feel you can... I'd very much like to nail this (if this is the case). This is not vengeance... just wanting to exclude the disruptors from the courtroom so that proper inquiry can be conducted.

I have heard exactly the same thing, from a source that can not even in principle be the same source as Rick's.

I also take note that in the hysterical Bill Hamiltonian rants back and forth between Sarfatti, Collins, Smith, and himself in mid- August...Bill Hamilton sent a note out that said: "Just wait until you see the story that Dan is going to start to put out in November!"

An extremely well placed person has intercepted communication between the ATS and the Burisch camp. The Blogs have been traced back to the Burisch camp.

Hi, Rick - re Burisch, if this is cast-iron, give it to me at Laughlin so I can include it in my presentation...

The skeptics will do everything to discredit the story. I have real, first hand information, that Dan Burisch is behind the skeptical side of Serpo.

Re: the increasing noise on the Blogs and the para-Serponian web sites. Wayne did send me several to peruse about two weeks ago. I do so about one a day.

The story that it is a hoax and due primarily to Bill and Rick is legion. No connecting of the two of them. Just independent chatter. Lots of stuff about the material since mid-December being patently absurd, a rehash of a 15-year old book, while the early stuff was simply "barely believable." There is widespread discussion about a British based communications plot, with all the embedded messages and the logs about "legal" and "creative" approvals for the story that is a clear viral marketing scheme. The "Hoax" and then "Hoax admitter" and then "Hoax-hoax admitter" string is now up to five levels. It isn't even possible in principle to tell from the Blogs, ATS, or other sites who believes whom.

But the bad guys are being named: Bill Ryan and Rick Doty. God forbid anyone ever connects the two of you guys...it is so far as if the two of you never heard of each other.

No more discussion of people taking the story seriously, like visitors from the government.

By the way...the issue of the huge data file, turning out to be a child-like protractor drawing did it all in. Absolutely no one noticed that it may have been a drawing, fully intending to be a serious attempt to convey meaning, of something that had been mentioned in one of the first 5 "Releases." Did any of you recognize it? It was an object (I think) mentioned quite early-on. It may not be so silly, after all. Remember what I said...even simple drawings when put in WORD turn out to be megabytes...rename the file and / or put it into a GIF or JPEG and the same drawing drops to 70 kilobytes. Most people on the internet chat rooms including ATS know even less about computers than do I...and that says it all.

That is why I am not reading anything anymore for detail...just sociological gestalt.

I heard a rumor that the original Anonymous may resurface and show the present (since mid-December) Anonymous III to be a fraud. The source was credible, but the back-story makes it murky.

k.
